

MEDIA CAMPAIGN NEKA LJUBI KO GOD KOGA HOĆE! (LET EVERYONE KISS WHOMEVER THEY WANT!)

The International Day Against Homophobia and Transphobia – IDAHO 2013

On the 17th of May 1992 World Health Organisation (WHO) declassifies homosexuality as a mental illness in the latest edition of its list of diseases and health problems, the International Statistical Classification of Diseases and Related Health Problems. Since then this day has been marked as an International Day against Homophobia and Transphobia which emphasises that homophobia and transphobia are harmful and must be fought against until its logic is destroyed.

Sarajevo open centre is organising the first ever IDAHO media campaign in BiH this year.

The purpose of this campaign named Neka Ijubi ko god koga hoće (Let everyone kiss whomever they want) is to raise the awareness of the issues LGBT person face. This campaign aims to indicate the alarming level of homophobia and transphobia in BH society and to attribute to their decrease. Homophobia and transphobia are present in the work places, educational system and schools, streets, media and Sarajevo Open Centre through all of its activities wants to raise the awareness of the public on their consequences and work on their decrease.

This campaign is just a beginning of our work on combat againsta homophobia and transphobia and the discrimination and violence they cause which occurs to LGBT persons almost daily.
